

FOREST FORUM

Thursday, March 30

7:00 to 8:30 p.m.

Faulkner Gallery • Santa Barbara Public Library
Corner of Anacapa and Anapamu Streets
Downtown Santa Barbara • FREE

HELP PROTECT YOUR NATIONAL FOREST!

The Los Padres National Forest is one of America's most endangered forests. Learn how YOU can help protect it and become more involved in issues affecting YOUR public lands.

Join us for an inspiring and educational evening featuring:

America's National Forests, a short film showcasing the mountains, rivers, forests, wildlife, and recreational opportunities of national forests across the country, and what concerned citizens are doing to protect them. Produced by High Plains Films.

The Los Padres National Forest, a photographic journey into our very own national forest located just minutes from Santa Barbara, highlighting these spectacular wildlands and the activities that are threatening them.

Citizens' Forest Campaign, a presentation by ForestWatch staff on how you can get involved in protecting your national forest. Receive a copy of the upcoming Citizens' Guide to Protecting Your National Forest, and learn more about our volunteer monitoring program.

Take Action!, write a letter to the U.S. Forest Service urging them to protect large old-growth trees on Figueroa Mountain from destructive logging. Let your voice be heard!

ForestWatch is a local nonprofit organization working to protect and restore the Los Padres National Forest through community involvement, scientific collaboration, and legal advocacy.

FIND OUT MORE AT WWW.LPFW.ORG

The first 10 people to bring this flier and a friend to the event will receive a FREE ForestWatch t-shirt.